HEALTHCARE

Medical equipment and procedures are constantly changing. We have worked closely with our clients and their vendors to understand the structural requirements of the latest medical technologies including cancer treatment (linear accelerators and proton therapy), imaging (MRI, IMRIS, PET-CT), interventional procedures, hybrid ORs, and surgical booms and lighting. We meet the strict support requirements of these elements without taking adjacent areas out of service. Our capabilities include studying and limiting vibrations that can affect the performance of the equipment and the comfort of the patients.

Our multiple repeat healthcare clients have turned to us to study and understand their existing facilities. This allows us to respond to the ever changing requirements and consult on economical solutions for expansion and alteration. McNamara · Salvia understands that the business of healthcare revolves around providing uninterrupted service. Our aim is to minimize the impacts on existing facilities and provide new structures that are adaptable to meet future needs.
